Dear Antarctic, et al,

This is the second update on the planning for a SouthPole-sium in Scotland. (For earlier e-mailings go to <http://www.antarctic-circle.org/gathering2-updates.htm>)

We have been conversing about organizing a gathering in Scotland in his neighborhood. We've been talking as well with the folks at nearby Lunga House which we've tentatively set as the main venue. (See <http://www.lungahouse.co.uk>)

Because of scheduling conflicts we've decided to set the date for the early spring Bank Holiday weekend (Fri-Mon 2-4 May 2015), nearly two years from now. Plenty of time to plan things out!

Rob will be going to Scotland to meet with Falcon and Jane Scott and Meg at Lunga House after this year's annual Athy Shackleton Autumn School, meaning the last day or so of October or the first day or so of November 2013. Most of the logistics for the SouthPole-sium will be worked out during that visit. Shortly thereafter, an e-mail will go out to announce the confirmed date and presumably the registration cost and other details. (We will attempt to keep the cost under £100 for the weekend to include some meals, refreshments and a few extras. Accommodation will be separate, both at Lunga House, at Jane and Falcon's and at a selection of nearby inns and B&Bs.)

So stay tuned and check the website (<http://www.antarctic-circle.org/gathering2.htm>) from time-to-time.

Regards,

Rob Stephenson
Falcon Scott
